FLOODED CELLAR, SNOW REMOVAL AND NEW STREETS WERE DISCUSSED

Variety of Matters Before Public Works Board Wednesday
Herbert Carl and Tannery Brook; Trolley Road and Snow Bill, and Street Matters.

The Tannery Brook flooding the cellar of Herbert Carl's house on Lindenman avenue; the Kierstedt development and the proposition to flood several streets to the city; the trolley road objecting to the amount of last winter's snow removal bill; and the establishing of grades in a number of streets were some of the matters that came up for discussion and action at the regular monthly meeting of the board of public works held at the city hall Wednesday evening. Mayor Walter Crane presided with Commissioners Frank B. Matthews, John Hiltbrant, William H. Van Etten and Selig Oppenheimer present.

Used Canal Boat Pump.
Attorney Virgil B. Van Wagoner appeared before the board in behalf of Herbert Carl, who was also present to ask relief from the Tannery Brook which is flooding the cellar of Carl's house on Lindenman avenue. All day Wednesday Mr. Carl has been obliged to have Fred M. Dressel, a local plumber, and his men busy at the house armed with a pump from a canal boat to pump the infowing water out of the cellar.

After considerable discussion of the matter the board decided to meet with Attorney Van Wagoner and Mr. Carl at Mr. Carl's home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock to investigate the matter and see what can be done to keep the brook within bounds.

Wanted To Decd Streets.
After disposing of the Mr. Carl's cellar Attorney Van Wagoner stated that he had another matter he wanted to bring up and called attention to the proposed development of the Kierstedt farm in the town of Ulster which had been bought by Arthur J. Burns, the real estate man, who expected to develop the property which had been laid out in building lots. This property is in the rear of Albany avenue, and connects part of the old race track in Manor avenue.

The proposed street leading into the property from Albany avenue is directly on the line between the city and the town of Ulster and another proposed street is just inside the city limits. These two streets Mr. Burns was willing to deed to the city, he was also willing to deed all of the streets in the proposed development to the city.

"They are in the town of Ulster," remarked Corporation Counsel Gill, "but the blue print of the development that Mr. Van Wagoner had with him and I doubt very much whether the city could accept deeds to any streets outside its limits."

The question of whether the city was willing to accept the deeds to the streets inside the city limits was left unsettled until the board investigated the matter more thoroughly.

What Gas Company Wanted.
The Kingston Gas & Electric Company applied for permission to open the Boulevard to install gas service to eleven consumers and also applied for permission to dig up Lindenman avenue between Wall and Washington avenues, for the purpose of laying a new main.

Both projects would mean the tearing up of Willie pavement and Superintendent Darrow stated he had informed the gas company officials that he did not approve of tearing up the Willie at this season of the year as there was no means of making repairs until next spring as the asphalt plant is now closed for the season. Under those conditions it would mean that the streets would be torn up all winter.

"Under the Sidewalks."
Commissioner Hiltbrant after the matter had been discussed suggested that the gas company place the pipes under the sidewalks instead of in the streets, and Superintendent Darrow was directed to place that proposition before the gas company.

Requests Denied.
After some further discussion Commissioner Oppenheimer moved that the requests to open the Boulevard and Lindenman avenue at this time be denied, which was adopted.

The board was willing to have the work done in the early spring when repairs could be made promptly to the streets torn up.

Other Matters.
E. Winter's Sons applied for permission to install a 1,000 gallon fuel tank at 315 Fair street in which to store oil to be used in heating the building. It was referred to the superintendent and street committee.

Theodore Brise of 2 Wilbur avenue asked permission to install a gas pump in front of his premises and it was referred to the superintendent and street committee.

Van Gausbeck Street Grade.
Van Gausbeck street residents sent in a communication protesting to a proposed change in the grade of the street as it would work a hardship on those who had already laid out walks and curbs with a grade furnished them at the time the houses were built by the city engineer. The communication was filed.

Wants City to Buy.
A communication was read from a son of Mrs. Rose Decker who owns the vacant lot on Broadway, next to the Kingston City Hospital. This property was bringing in no revenue,

All of these reports were accepted with thanks and ordered placed on file. It will be noted that the fiscal year for the Red Cross is from June 30 to June 30, and when the question was asked as to the finances of the chapter today, Treasurer Oughltrie stated that there is to the credit of the chapter at present $4,062.22.

Attention was called to the fact that the coming Red Cross roll call would start as usual on Armistice Day, and the need for immediately organizing for this membership drive in Kingston was fully appreciated.

While there has been due publicity given to the fact that the Red Cross Chapter of Ulster county has sent the amazing sum of $10,614 to the National Japanese relief fund (and there is a little more to come in) it seemed the opinion of all present that the fact of such a generous responding to an unprecedented calamity, and that almost immediately, and all through the Red Cross, was worth taking public notice of, as showing the need of support by membership of an organization that could make such a contribution. It did seem that a contribution of over $10,000 from our little county might well be blazoned forth in large letters—or rather figures—and when this little last amount outstanding comes in to Mr. Oughltrie the public will be given the total amount of its gift.

The Red Cross meeting went on record as favoring the proposed bond

HOSPITAL FEATHERED OUT; SEX NO MORE.

A request in The Freeman from the auxiliary of the Kingston City Hospital for feather beds to make over into pillows met with such an immediate and generous response that the auxiliary is forced to announce that there are now enough feathers on hand to supply all needs in that line for several years.

The names of givers will be published after the next meeting. The offers which have been declined during the last few days are deeply appreciated and the ladies are more than gratified at the instant awakening of interest which invariably follows a public appeal for helping the hospital.

KUHLMANNS HELD IN $2,500 BAIL

In Federal Court as Result of Seizure of Beer at Brewery in Ellenville July Last.

An information has been filed in the United States District Court, Southern District, against Homer C. Kuhlmann, trading as the Kuhlmann Beverage Co., John Kuhlmann, Walter Kuhlmann, the Mt. Vernon Beverage Co., a corporation, and C. Hoornbeck, defendants.

The defendants pleaded not guilty and were admitted to bail in the amount of $2,500 each by Judge John C. Knox, in New York city, on Monday. Elmer N. Lemon appeared for the government in the matter.

The information charges, in the first count, the manufacture of beer containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol; in the second count, the unlawful possession of the same; and in the third count the transportation of the same.

The fourth count charges the possession of liquor—ten full 40-gallon vats and three full 100-gallon vats. The fifth count charges the maintaining of a common nuisance in Ellenville, Ulster county, N. Y., on June 1, 1923 and on July 1, 1923, and divers other dates, in that the defendant maintained a place where intoxicating liquor was manufactured, sold, etc.

Early on a Wednesday morning in July last, federal government agents visited the Ellenville Brewery and seized ten barrels of alleged four per cent lager, which they brought in a motor-truck to Newburgh. It had been stated that the concern was operating under a government permit for the manufacture of cereal beverages, subject to federal inspection.

All such permits are issued from Washington. Investigation developed that none had been issued to the Kuhlmanns for the Ellenville Brewery, but that malt liquors were being made there nevertheless.

Subsequently six federal men, including Chief Chemist Quillan and Special Deputy Assistant Attorney General Coster, who had come on from Washington, visited and inspected the plant, and took 24 specimens of beer in various stages of manufacture. These samples were analyzed then and there by Chemist Quillan in the presence of the Kuhlmanns, so that no claim might be made later that they had increased in alcoholic strength because of delay.

The specimens analyzed were then taken away. The second inspection and seizure was made by virtue of a search warrant issued by United States Commissioner Edward J. Collins of Newburgh on application of the prohibition enforcement authorities.

John Kuhlmann and his sons Walter and Homer, jointly charged, and George Nickerson, chief of police of Ellenville separately charged with assault and violation of Section 65 of the United States criminal code growing out of circumstances attending the first seizure, were arraigned before Commissioner Collins and gave bail in $1,000 each to await the action of the federal grand jury in New York. A short time afterward Nickerson resigned as chief of police of Ellenville.

LEVATHAN COMPLETES REPAIRS AND PROCEEDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Oct. 25.—A radiogram from the American liner Levathan today stated that repairs had been made to the turbine and that the steamship is now proceeding towards port at full speed.

The liner ran into a terrific gale in mid-Atlantic and a slight accident occurred to the engine. It was repaired after a 12 hour delay.

The liner will reach port Saturday and will depart the following day for New York.

MANAGER WITH MONEY FIRST NEED FOR REVIVED HOTEL PROJECT HERE

President Burns Instructed to Name Committee to Find One—$600,000 Investment Proposed—$250,000 Stock at Par and $350,000 Bonds at 90.

A second meeting called by the Chamber of Commerce to examine and discuss the survey recently made by the General Organization Co. in reference to a new hotel in Kingston was held Wednesday evening and attended by twelve persons in addition to the reporters. Those present were Charles Hamsy, Frank Thompson, E. F. Fessenden, William Dugan, Max Reben, A. J. Burns, Russell Clayton, Louis Cox, Charles Lasher, C. S. Treadwell, Thomas J. Comerford and Charles Kappeler.

After reading the report of the survey and engaging in a prolonged discussion it was decided that it might be desirable to interest a hotel manager who would take some stock, before entering into a campaign to sell stock to the public, and President Burns was directed to appoint a committee of three to find a prospective manager and report later.

The survey report favored a hotel conducted on the European plan with 100 rooms ranging in price from $2.50 to $5.50, the greater number of the rooms being priced at $3.50 and under. The Sharpe site was considered ideal save in one respect, not being in the business district there is no opportunity for the ground floor to earn rental by being leased for business purposes. Compensating advantages of the Sharpe site more than counterbalance this and it is recommended. Detailed estimates show a total investment of $600,000 required, $350,000 for the building, and the remainder for equipment. Interest charges, premium on loan, etc. It is proposed to sell $250,000 of stock and $350,000 of bonds, the stock at par and the bonds at 90.

The estimated annual gross income is $179,642.20; the estimated expenses, including an amortization fund, $150,815.20, leaving a net income of $28,827, from which must be deducted income tax amounting to $3,603.38, leaving available $25,223.82 available for the payment of dividends, which amount would be sufficient to pay 10 per cent on the stock issued.

Several of those present questioned the accuracy of the estimate for furnishing and equipment, considering it much too low.

In order to sell the $250,000 of stock the General Organization Co. recommends putting on a campaign of education for five weeks, followed by a drive lasting one week. They would supply three men who would do the educating and take charge of the workers in the drive. The estimated cost of this, including luncheon for the workers, advertising and printing to the value of $1,600, and the salaries and expenses of the three experts is $8,260, to be paid whether or not the campaign succeeds. In 12 years the company has not had a failure.

COLLECTOR ELTING TELLS ABOUT THE BIG JOB HE BOSSES IN NEW YORK

Customs Receipts Million Dollars a Day, Payable in Cash in Advance—Rum Runners Caught Every Day—Other Smuggling—Dr. Thayer Endorses Hospital Bond Issue.

Kingston Rotarians heard at their luncheon on Wednesday some things about how the biggest cash business in the world is run, the magnitude of the business and the astounding fact that it collects cash in advance from its creditors before they receive the goods for which they have paid. This business receives on an average more than $1,000,000 a day, cash in advance, employs 2,564 persons, as against 3,186 employed in 1914, has increased wages of its employees at an average of only $248 a year over pre-war pay and functions at a cost on 1.65 cents on each dollar collected. The present head of this business is a Kingston man, Philip Elting, collector of customs at the port of New York and the business is the collection of customs duties at the New York customs house.

Mr. Elting was the speaker, and in 27 minutes he gave the Rotarians more information about tariff, customs, house work, smuggling, rum running, and the magnitude of the port of New York than any of them had ever dreamed they would possess. Summarized briefly, some of the important facts given by Mr. Elting are as follows:

New York is the largest port in the world. It serves from eight to ten millions of persons directly and has 50 miles of piers. A ship enters or leaves the harbor every 20 minutes during daylight. The Hudson river and later the Erie canal established the great trade route from the interior to the Atlantic through New York state to the port of New York. This established route was followed by the railroads and made New York what it is. A credit is due the wise action of the men of earlier days who had the vision to do these things.

An import tax was provided for by law as one of the first acts of congress when the government was formed. New York is in District No. 10 and has branch customs houses at Albany, Newark and Perth Amboy. The district covers eastern New York, Long Island and a part of New Jersey and collects more revenue than all the other 47 districts together. The collector is in charge. Under him is a surveyor of the port, who has charge of the outside ward, inspectors, guards, etc., the appraisers' department, which fixes the value of imported goods on which the tax is levied according to value, and a controller, who checks up on the accounts of the collector.

In the last fiscal year 18,320 ships entered and cleared from the port of New York. These ships are registered in the office of the collector and mortgages, etc., against them are also registered there, so that the department of the collector's office is like a county clerk's office. In this department 5,316 documents were registered in the last fiscal year.

Total collections in the last fiscal year amounted to $219,717,546, an average of more than $1,000,000 a day for each working day of the year. One day last week receipts were $1,600,000.

Invoices must be filed by importers and last year 1,081,000 such documents were filed. When the invoice and declaration are filed an estimate is made of the amount of tax due and this must be paid before the importer is permitted to take possession of his goods. From each shipment a

WHAT NEIGHBORS SAY ABOUT WELLS

Brief Biographical Sketch of Republican Nominee for Sheriff, Whose Useful Activities Are Appreciated in His Home Town.

HERMAN S. WELLS.

The Ellenville Journal says: Herman S. Wells, Republican candidate for sheriff of Ulster county, was born in Stone Ridge April 23, 1867. When he was but seven months of age his parents moved to High Falls, where later he attended the public school. He was early initiated into the realities of life, however, for at the tender age of twelve years we find him a lock-tender at old No. 16 lock on the Delaware & Hudson canal at High Falls. He worked there two seasons and then for two years was engaged as clerk in the store of Thomas Snyder, the well known High Falls merchant.

Meantime, Herman had given himself a course of instruction in telegraphy and leaving the Snyder store we find him for two years employed by the D. & H. Canal Company as telegraph operator. Such was his proficiency that in 1886 he was transferred to Ellenville where he was made manager of the telegraph office there for the canal company and the Western Union, which position he retained for twenty-five years.

His activity and enterprise were demonstrated by the fact that during three years, in addition to taking care of the work of his office and conducting a news and stationery store, he built, owned and operated telephone lines which gave service to the people of Southern Ulster for many years. He also acquired control of the Delaware River Telephone and Telegraph Company, which operated in all of Sullivan and part of Delaware county, becoming its president and treasurer.

In 1911 Mr. Wells disposed of his telephone interests to the New York Telephone Company, at the same time resigning from the Western Union management, and engaged in the automobile business.

For some years past he has been interested in the granite and marble business, in the well known firm of Ryan & Wells. He has also been engaged as superintendent of construction on county highways.

Mr. Wells has served the people in official capacity as supervisor of the town of Wawarsing, and for fourteen years as a trustee of the village of Ellenville, for two years filling the office of president. A staunch Republican all his life, he has been for some fourteen years the member of the Republican county central committee from his district.

Among his public activities, it might be noted that for twenty years he was an active volunteer fireman, having been for two years the senior foreman of Seneca Hose and Hook and Ladder Company of Ellenville, of which company he is now an honorary life member. For fifteen years he was one of the reliable members of the famous old Clayton Band of Ellenville.

The World War found Mr. Wells ready to serve as best he might, and we find that in addition to performing the duty of district military census enumerator he was active in organizing the Ellenville Home Defense Unit, of which organization he was appointed first lieutenant by Governor Whitman.

Fraternally Mr. Wells is a member of Wawarsing Lodge, F. and A. M., treasurer of Wawarsing Chapter, R. A. M., Roundout Commandery and Cyprus Shrine. He has also been a member for many years of Awosting Lodge, 208, Knights of Pythias.

"Tell All the Folks in Kentucky" is a well-played standard big hit fox trot with a lyric sung by Vernon Dalhart. "Midnight Rose" is full of color and makes a most romantically beautiful record.

YOU get a greater value in Goodyear Tires today than ever. As this chart shows, Goodyear Tire prices for years have been kept lower than the average prices for all commodities. Today, Goodyear Tires sell for 37% less than in 1920; 30% less than in 1914—though the tires have been vastly improved. This is a good time to buy Goodyears.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we will and recommend the new Goodyear Cords with the beveled All-Weather Tread and heels, up with standard Goodyear Service.

2 INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY

Seventeen Sealed and Five Open.
Also Twelve Dismissals—Hassan
Kader Pleads Not Guilty and is Held in $2,000 Bail.

Twenty-two indictments were brought up by the grand jury which has been in session for the past three weeks. Seventeen were sealed indictments and five were open.
There were twelve dismissals.
Judge Nichols received the report of the grand jury at the opening of court this morning.

Andrew Hill, indicted for carrying a concealed pistol without a permit, a violation of paragraph 5, section 1897 of the penal law and also violation of paragraph 4, possessing a pistol without a permit, entered a plea of not guilty to the two counts.
Hill is alleged to have been observed with the weapons on the twelfth day of May at East Kingston. Bail was fixed at $500 for each offense and the prisoner remanded to jail when the money was not produced.

William Reading, who was charged with the same two offenses, alleged to have been committed in the town of Ulster on July 5, 1923, entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $500 in each instance.

George Matthews, indicted on a charge of grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have been committed in the town of Shandaken on October 14, 1923, entered a plea of not guilty and bail was fixed at $1,000.

Hassan Kader, who was indicted for the grand jury on a charge of abducting a fifteen year old girl in this city on September 20, 1923, entered a plea of not guilty. Walter Miller appears for Kader. Bail was fixed at $2,000 in this case.

George Minor, indicted for grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have been committed in the town of Saugerties on September 28, 1923, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned and bail was fixed at $1,000.

No indictments were found in the following cases and the prisoners were ordered released if in jail and where bail had been furnished the bail bond cancelled:

Ralph Brooks, Raymond Carr,
John Southall, George Schryver,
Michael McCullough, William En-
gure, Walter Brown, Tracy Gorsline,
Charles Stein, Marietta Poloso,
Archie Van Etten and Fred Dahlem.

In the case of Walter Brown no indictment was found by the grand jury and the case was dismissed with the recommendation that it be brought to the attention of a justice of the peace of the town of Rosedale. The charge was assault. This degree, a violation of section 42 of the penal law.

The grand jury having no further business to transact was dismissed with the thanks of the court.

Since the opening of court,
Attorney Traver and Assistant District
Attorney Murray have been constantly engaged in the preparation of cases for the grand jury. The grand jury in attendance at the September term of county court was terminated in order that the grand jury in attendance at the October term of supreme court might take up the duties where its predecessor had discouraged.

Judge Nichols certified the five open indictments which were brought in by the present grand jury over to county court for trial.

A CITY'S BUSINESS

With the passing of the years, the fact has become more and more apparent that what is needed in city affairs is the same honest and efficient policies used in building up industrial enterprises, and voters should see to it that the city's affairs are placed in the hands of men who are capable of producing the best results.

Realizing that fact the Republican party has selected Albert H. Cook as the logical candidate to carry on the progressive program inaugurated under previous Republican administrations. Mr. Cook is a man who was born and has lived all his life in Kingston. During the years that he has taken an active part in the business and political life of the city he has become fully acquainted with its needs.

That the policies inaugurated under Republican administration have proven efficient is shown by the fact that Kingston has assumed her rightful place among the cities of the Hudson river valley. With the continued growth of the Hudson river valley Kingston needs more than ever men in charge of its affairs who have the best interests of the city at heart, and who are capable and willing to devote their time and energy to the building up of the city. Such a man is Mr. Cook.

In electing Mr. Cook it should not be forgotten that he needs the assistance of an able man-at-large and a common council who will work with him in harmony and sympathy. In Edgar J. Dempsey the Republican party has selected a man who is fully equipped to fulfill the duties of alderman-at-large in a way that will command respect. One of the younger business men of the city Mr. Dempsey is known to be thoroughly competent. In the various wards of the city the Republican party has selected capable men as candidates for the office of alderman. They are men who realize the importance of the duties of the common council and are willing to devote their time and energy to the duties of the office.

NO SCANDAL AFTER ALL

Surveys by expert geologists employed by the Senate Public Lands Committee indicate that the leasing of Teapot Dome oil field ought to have been done long ago. Former Secretary of the Interior Fall has been bitterly criticized for turning the field over to the Sinclair oil interests on a royalty basis, it being contended that it should have been reserved as a source of navy fuel as originally intended. Mr. Fall's reason for granting the lease was to prevent drainage from Teapot Dome into the Salt Creek fields nearby, which were being operated by private parties under an older lease from the government. Recent investigations indicate that the damage feared by Secretary Fall has actually occurred. Borings into strata that were expected to produce at least 50,000,000 barrels have revealed nothing but small pockets of oil, but with every indication that the sands were recently drained of their contents.

The truth apparently is that during the eight years of the Wilson administration the exhaustion of the Navy's oil reserve in Wyoming went steadily on, while the Interior Department paid no attention to drillings in the immediate vicinity and remained serenely confident that the Teapot Dome supply was being conserved simply because there were no wells actually within its boundaries. Instead of the Republican policy, as administered by former Secretary Fall, being subject to criticism, events are proving that it should have been adopted long before.

The president of the Great Northern Railroad has informed President Coolidge that any reduction of rail rates in the Northwest would be injurious to the farmers themselves, as it would impair the transportation service and hinder the farmers in getting their products to market. If such a reduction were not compensated by increases in rates elsewhere, of course it would necessitate further economies on the part of the roads, and a consequent reduction of efficiency in service. It usually happens in the commercial field that a cheaper price means cheaper quality, and that is precisely what is likely to happen if the railroads are compelled to submit to a revision downward of their service rates.

In the last five months 231 industrial concerns and 36 transportation companies have begun or increased dividend payments. Republican economic policies are not only providing plenty of work with good pay for our wage earners, but are also earning a return on their investment for the millions of owners of our industries and railroads.

Another "uplift" of Tammany is to redistrict the state so the people of New York city will be more equitably represented in the legislature? Can any one imagine what the state would look like after Tammany got through with the problem of redistricting. It would surely be a picture worth seeing but up-state would not be in it.

Of one thing there is no doubt: Were Tammany to get control of the state and administer its affairs as economically as it does the affairs of New York city, the state being the biggest, would undoubtedly beat New York city into bankruptcy. Tammany's plan is, "let it while the getting is good."

If Tammany could have its way every farmer would be forced to register in person. When Tammany mentions anything about cleaner elections one thinks of the rhyme, "Will you walk into my parlor said the spider to the fly." And what happened to the fly?

WHERE IS YOUR LIVER?

As it is rather unusual to have a pain in the liver, very few people have the right idea of its location.

Now the stomach assumes different positions in the body, depending on the food and drink taken in, but it is a rare thing for the liver to move out of place unless something is wrong.

Physicians are able therefore to locate the liver and gall bladder fairly well by the use of their hands.

Occasionally in very thin people or people with very lax abdominal muscles the liver "falls" somewhat, and is then spoken of as a "wandering" liver.

Also in women wearing tight corsets the liver gets pushed downwards a number of inches.

The first thing to remember is that underneath the ribs on the right side you have the right lung, extending from collarbone to about the fourth or fifth rib. From this point to nearly the bottom of the ribs, is the liver.

Roughly, down to the nipple is lung, and below that is liver.

But the liver extends right across the front of the body to the left side, in fact nearly one quarter of it is actually on the left side. On the right side it rises up into an arch in the diaphragm which in turn arches up under the right lung. Thus as mentioned once before, whenever a breath is taken in, the lung thus squeezes down against the liver and helps the flow of bile from the liver. A natural "liver squeezer."

The liver is so large that it actually fills in all the space on the right side from the ribs in front to the ribs behind. It is really the largest organ in the body.

As you know the gall bladder is attached to the liver on its lower surface, and holds any excess of bile manufactured by the liver.

An acute pain in the region of the gall bladder may be due to a number of things, a growth, or even gall stones.

Where a line drawn from the bony lump on the top of the right shoulder to the navel crosses the edge of the ribs is immediately over the gall bladder.

Gas causes most of the pain in this region, but where there is very severe pain going right over to the shoulder, a pain that brings out the perspiration, with a yellowness of the skin, then the gall bladder is in distress and you would be wise to consult your doctor.

I know that people get along all right after the gall bladder has been removed, but its use as a reservoir is still admitted by physiologists.

Co-Operative Drying Plants Are Favored

Found Successful in Increasing Profit From Orchard.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Community fruit-drying plants have been found to be a successful means of increasing the orchard profits of the small growers who have a surplus which they are unable to market in any other way, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, if the total quantity of such surplus in a community is sufficient to justify the necessary expense. The organization of such a co-operative plant should be governed by the same fundamental rules that have been found necessary in the development of other co-operative ventures.

It must first be definitely ascertained whether the quantity of unused fruit is actually such as will make the establishment of an evaporator or drying plant profitable. This information can only be obtained by a careful canvass of the district and a tabulation of the results. The making of such a canvass is a task calling for conservatism and the exercise of good judgment, for the reason that unintentional but gross overstatement of the unmarketed and unused portion of the fruit which could be used as evaporator stock is the rule rather than the exception. It must be borne in mind that in the case of apples, only mature, reasonably sound fruit of fair size will make a marketable dry product and that estimates which include premature drops, specked and decayed fruits, and small-sized cider apples are worse than useless because misleading. The canvass should take into account all fruits grown in the district, the location of the center of supply, the length of time over which the ripening of each will extend, and the maximum quantity per day which the plant will be required to handle.

With this data in hand it will be possible to determine the size and type of evaporator needed. As the fruits will in most cases be varied the plant should be of a general-purpose type, so constructed that it will handle equally well all materials, such as apples, peaches, plums and prunes.

Check Cucumber Beetle by Using Dust Mixture

One of the best methods of controlling the cucumber beetle, according to Carl J. Drake, state entomologist at Iowa State college, is to dust the young plants with a mixture of one part of calcium arsenate and 20 parts of gypsum.

The dust can be applied with a shaker made by punching holes in the bottom of a half-gallon tin can with an eight-penny nail. The first application should be made immediately after the young plants break through the ground. After that the plants should be dusted either early in the morning or late in the evening from two to three times per week and following rains.

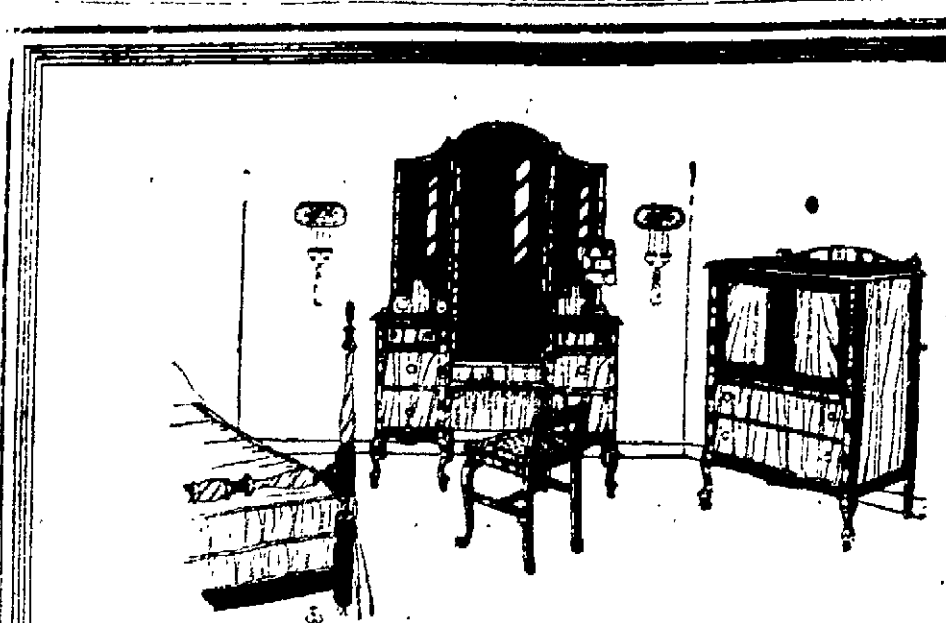

Usually from 10 to 12 applications per season are all that are required, although more are necessary in the case of exceptionally severe attacks by the beetles. If these directions are followed rather closely, there will be no trouble in controlling the cucumber beetle.

Destructive Qualities of Heavy Motortrucks

Miles and miles of ribbonlike roads are the hope of every motorist, and when speaking of motorists these days it touches almost every home in the country. But, though the road builders lay them smooth, they seem to have so far been unable to cope with the destructive qualities of heavy motortrucks now used to a large extent in commercial transportation on smooth surfaces.

Millions of dollars have been spent and are being spent annually for the extension to all parts of the country of good roads, in answer to the demands of the people for easy internal means of communication by way of the motorcar. Long-distance touring shows a yearly increase, and motortruck transportation is increasing.

The Fastest Animal.

The speediest animal is probably the whippet, which can travel at more than forty miles an hour. The fastest human runner does a little more than twenty miles an hour in a sprint race, and the racehorse can manage between thirty and forty, though a few horses have been known to accomplish even faster speeds.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

By the Grace of God, Free and Independent.

GRANDFATHER TURKEY

"At this time of the year," said Grandfather Turkey, "I like to talk to all the turkeys in the barnyard."

"Gobble, gobble, gobble," said the other turkeys. "Do talk to us, Grandfather Turkey."

"Yes, talk to us," said Teddy Turkey. "Tell us anything at all. We're well fed and we feel like a little rest. We don't feel like wandering or adventuring."

"No," said Grandfather Turkey, "of course not."

"Why do you say 'Of course not'?" asked Teddy Turkey.

"Ah, you are but a young turkey. You do not understand," said Grandfather Turkey.

"Won't you explain it to me?" asked Teddy Turkey.

Now Grandfather Turkey was much pleased when Teddy Turkey asked to have Grandfather Turkey explain his speech. There was nothing Grandfather Turkey enjoyed more than explaining and talking and strutting and gobbling.

"Yes, I will explain many things," said Grandfather Turkey, "and I will do so as soon as you all gather about me."

So all the turkeys gathered about Grandfather Turkey and he began to tell them of many things.

"First I have a little news of the barnyard to tell," said Grandfather Turkey. "Jackie, the horse, is devoted to the little girl who is the daughter of the farmer."

"Whenever Jackie hears her footsteps he begins to neigh. Yes, he knows her by her footsteps and doesn't wait until he sees her.

"You Do Not Understand," Said Grandfather Turkey.

"Then he kisses her when she comes to see him and she kisses him, too."

"Oh, they are the best of friends, and it is very sweet the way Jackie neighs when he hears her in the distance."

"Then there is one other thing I wish to say before I begin to tell some Turkey news."

"That is that horseradish is an herb and people grate it and then put vinegar on it and eat it."

"I don't know why it is called horseradish, Turkey children, but I do know that horses don't eat it. I have heard that one of the reasons it has been called horseradish is because it is so strong an herb and horses are supposed to be so strong."

"I heard one of the Turkey children saying the other day that it must be a radish vegetable for a horse!"

"It is in the spring when people eat it mostly. How did you happen to hear of it?"

And Grandfather Turkey spoke to the Turkey child whom he had heard speak of horseradish a little time before.

"I heard the farmer's daughter telling another little girl how much she liked it and then I wondered if it could be that she enjoyed hay and oats and other food for horses!"

"Gobble, gobble, gobble," laughed Grandfather Turkey.

"Well, now I must tell you Turkey truths."

"The reason you do not want to wander away and adventure forth these days is because you are being so well fed for either Thanksgiving day or Christmas day."

"Then you will be eaten without a doubt, or at least, very likely."

"But to make up for that kind of an ending you are given so much food before that time to fatten you up (which is very pleasant) you do not care to go away."

"I would be very foolish if you did! I must tell you a little Turkey history, too."

"Our ancestors, or those turkeys who came much before us, were from Europe, then they went to Mexico, and then they became domestic turkeys and now are thoroughly American."

"But our wild turkeys of this country are not our nearest relatives and they're not the ones from whom we are descended."

"Oh, we have our own history. Let no one think as they see us gobbling and strutting in the barnyard that we have no history."

"For we have—history and geography, too—for our ancestors have traveled and it is interesting to know that, too."

"Ah yes, gobble, gobble, those of our family who finally end up on a platter have had a history back of them at any rate!"

"PHEW—HE'S SURE GOIN' IN TO FINISH IT THE FIRST ROUND!"

"HPP? TALK ABOUT SPEED!"

The KITCHEN CABINET

(By 1923 Western Newspaper Union)

One ship goes east and another west
While the self-same breezes blow
It's the set of the sails and not the gales
That bid them where to go.

Like the winds of the air are the ways of the fates
As we journey along through life
It's the set of the soul that decides the goal
And not the storms or the strife.

SEASONABLE FOODS

As the wild fowl and other game are to be had at this season it is well to consider a few ways of preparing and serving it.

Wild duck, rice hens and birds that eat both grains and fish are often rather gamey in flavor. To remove some of the strong flavor, parboil them in water to which has been added a sliced carrot, an onion or two sliced, and a half bunch of celery. When tender remove and fry brown in deep fat, using butter and lard; season well and serve with sliced oranges and French dressing for a salad, or with finely shredded cabbage dressed with sugar, vinegar and rich cream. Drop the cabbage after shredding in cold water to become crisp, then drain, add the seasoning of salt, sugar and vinegar and enough cream to make a good dressing.

A young fowl after parboiling may be roasted until brown in a hot oven. Brush with butter and roast with an onion or a piece of celery in the cavity of each, which is removed before serving.

Apple, Onion Salad.—Take a slice or two of Spanish onion, chop fine and add to half a dozen finely sliced apples and a cupful of minced dates. Season with salt and dress with a good boiled dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves or garnish with a bit of parsley.

Los Angeles Dressing.—Beat four egg yolks, add one-fourth of a cupful of olive oil, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one teaspoonful each of mustard and salt, a dash of cayenne. Cook in a double boiler, stirring well until the mixture thickens. Chill and add a cupful of heavy cream beaten stiff and one and one-half tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish.

The Virgin of Guadalupe.

The Virgin of Guadalupe is the patron saint of Mexico, and more especially of the Mexican Indians. According to the legend, the Virgin Mary appeared to a converted Indian, named Juan Diego, in 1531, on the hill of Tepeyac, near the City of Mexico, and, addressing him in his own language, told him that she wished a temple built to her on that very spot.

At the foot of the hill is the church of Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe, completed in 1700. It contains an exquisite picture of the Virgin, said to have been miraculously imprinted by her on the surface of Diego's blanket. Guadalupe Hidalgo, with the sanctuary of the Virgin of Guadalupe, is situated about two miles north of the City of Mexico.

An Artist's Problem.

Of course, an artist's whole problem must be, as Carlyle wrote to me, the expressing with articulate clearness, the thought in him—I am almost inclined to say that clear expression should be his only work and care, for he is born, ordained, such as he is—and not born learned in putting what was born in him into words—whatever can be clearly spoken out to be. But "bricks and mortar" is very easily said, and some of the thoughts in "Sorrells" not so readily. . . . I sin forty times in a day by light words and untrue to the thought.—Robert Browning.

Washable Paper.

Many possible uses suggest themselves for a special paper recently produced and patented by a Japanese inventor. The paper is said to be reasonably strong and can be crumpled up and washed with soap and water. So durable is this paper that it can be used as a covering for umbrellas and, when soiled, can be easily cleansed at home. As a wrapping paper, it could be used over and over, being washed when soiled. It is said that the product can be made at a reasonable price. It has a texture somewhat like cloth, and is not to be confused with oiled paper.

TEETSELL HAS MADE GOOD RECORD

ALBERT A. TEETSELL.

Albert A. Teetsell, who has been the efficient town clerk of the town of Saugerties for the past ten years, has been nominated for supervisor by the Republican party in that town.

Mr. Teetsell is a life long resident of the town of Saugerties, having been born in Saugerties village on February 26, 1871, the son of Jeremiah H. and Charlotte Teetsell. His father is well known among the survivors of the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment and their families, having served during the Civil War as a member of the regiment.

Mr. Teetsell's unquestioned ability has been recognized by his townspeople. When he was first a candidate for the office, in 1911, he was defeated by forty-nine votes, but two years later, after the voters of Saugerties had become better acquainted, they elected him by a majority of 250, which was increased upon his first re-election to 335 majority, and in 1921 to 1,265 majority. His acquaintance with town affairs is second to none in the town.

Socially, Mr. Teetsell is a member of Ulster Lodge, No. 193, F. and A. M.; recording secretary of William H. Benjamin Lodge, No. 59, I. O. O. F., and financial scribe of Thomas W. Encampment, No. 39, I. O. O. F. In 1908 he served as district deputy of the Ulster county Odd Fellows district. He is a member of the Saugerties Baptist Church. He has always been actively identified with the Republican party in the town of Saugerties and worked for the interests of the party.

In 1921 Mr. Teetsell married Luella Sickles of Saugerties and they have two children, Harry W. Teetsell, who served during the World War with the Seventy-Eighth Division, and Glenford E. Teetsell, who served as a member of the Twenty-Seventh Division.

BLUE MOUNTAIN.

*Blue Mountain, Oct. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. John Tassell and children of Yake Katrine spent Sunday with Mrs. Anna Ostrom.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Myer and Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Lamoree enjoyed an auto trip to Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Baker of Tannersville called on Mrs. Anna Ostrom Wednesday.

Mrs. William A. Wolven spent Wednesday with Mrs. Jesse Wolven.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schoonmaker and Mrs. Nellie Wolven and family and Frank Schoonmaker and Miss Ruby Cure spent Friday evening with Clark Van Vleiden and family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hill of Lake Katrine spent the past week with Clarence Hill and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schoonmaker, Frank Schoonmaker and Miss Ruby Cure spent Wednesday evening at the home of Eddie Van Wart, the occasion being his birthday.

Ruth Schoonmaker of Saugerties is spending a week with her parents in this place.

Evelyn Schoonmaker, who spent the past week with her parents, has returned to Pine Grove.

Andrew Simons, the mail carrier, is back on the route after two weeks' vacation.

METTACHAHONTS.

Mettachahonts, Oct. 25.—The event of the season occurred on Saturday afternoon last when Mrs. David Deput and her class of Sunday school boys gave Kenneth Baker a surprise party as he is about to leave for his new home in Kerhonkson. They are sorry to lose him from the class as he is much interested in the Sunday school lessons and a regular attendant at Sunday school. It was indeed a surprise as he knew nothing about it until they arrived. Somehow Kenneth disappeared but soon returned. He was equal to the occasion and proceeded to give everyone a good time. He played victrola selections until the boys began to feel they could not wait any longer, when they went outside and had a most enjoyable afternoon in the beautiful autumn weather until called for refreshments at 5 o'clock. Cake and home made candy was provided by the boys. Mrs. Baker provided the remainder of the refreshments, including homemade ice cream, which was duly appreciated by the boys. After refreshments were over, the boys must separate again, so bidding Kenneth goodbye they left for their various homes, taking with them an invitation to visit him during the winter in his new home, which the boys are looking forward to.

PLUTARCH.

Plutarch, Oct. 25.—Mrs. George Borman of White Plains and Miss Alice Warnke of Elmford were callers in this place on Monday last.

Mrs. Henry McCormick visited her sister, Mrs. Augustus Van Voorhis, and family in Poughkeepsie on Friday last.

Arthur Markle of Poughkeepsie spent the week end with his parents here.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rogers have returned home after a ten days' vacation during which they visited many places including the Thousand Islands. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rogers from Verona, N. J. Mrs. William Kelly has been spending a few days in Albany and New Amsterdam.

Mrs. Peiffer has been occupying her cottage here for a few days. Mrs. Neuremberg has moved her furniture into the home which she has been renovating.

Mrs. Margaret Lane has returned to her home in Kiskatom after spending a couple of weeks with her sister, Mrs. Fred Mott.

Mrs. Curley has closed her house here for the winter and returned to New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Waterbury of Hartford, Conn., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mott. They also are visiting relatives here.

Six of the Cole family were gathered together on Sunday and had their pictures taken. S. P. Cole, the oldest one present, is 82, and Mrs. Alice Waterbury the youngest is about 66. There is one older brother, Charles Cole of Plattkill Clove, who is 84. Their ages added together would make about 525 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Goslie of Tannersville were Sunday guests at the home of D. W. Cole.

Mrs. Mount has closed her residence here and returned to Brooklyn, N. Y.

John Cole, having obtained a new position, has moved his family to Kingston.

No One Can Swindle You Unless You Want To Be Swindled!

So don't let lower prices for inferior shoes induce you to ask for or accept imitations of the original, genuine Arch Preserver Shoe for men and women.

There are 500 so-called "arch" shoes on the market but only one Arch Preserver Shoe of which we have made ourselves specialists in fitting because we believe it is the best shoe to be had at any price.

If you buy an imitation and are disappointed don't blame the genuine Arch Preserver Shoe nor the merchant who sold you the imitation. People can always buy what they want to buy and all merchants are as honest as the people who trade with them.

CAMERA FAST AS LIGHTNING

Machines Invented in United States and England Capable of Making 5,000 Exposures a Second.

The invention in the United States and England of two revolutionary types of "slow motion" moving picture camera, capable respectively of making 3,000 and 5,000 exposures a second, which permit the photographing in elaborate detail of such actions as the bursting of a shell against armor plate, is announced.

Under the eye of the super-high-speed camera a rubber ball dropped to the ground is shown to be flattened almost into a hemisphere at the moment of impact, a circumstance which, by showing resiliency in detail, is of scientific value to tire manufacturers in deciding on the design and construction of their products. Other secrets of rapid mechanical action disclosed by the cameras are expected to lead to industrial and scientific improvements. The smashing of a glass vacuum bulb by a hammer, an action which occupies something less than 1-100 of a second, is shown by these cameras in about fifty pictures—more than three feet of film—which at normal projecting speed would be run off on the screen in between three and four seconds. This enables scientific study to be made of each stage of a process that the fastest cameras hitherto devised have pictured as instantaneous.

The American machine was developed by C. Francis Jenkins of Washington. The British camera is known as the Heape-Gryll rapid cinema machine. They are large contrivances (weight of the English machine is four tons) operated by electric motors, and are started and stopped mechanically, since the human hand is too slow to operate the switch at the precise instant of the action to be photographed. Giant searchlights and chemical flashes are employed to furnish light, since photographic film is incapable of producing images under such short exposures as is given in these cameras—often less than 1-100,000 of a second.—Popular Science Monthly.

Lake That Sharpens Razors.

One of the most curious lakes in the world is to be found in Ireland. This lake has the power of petrifying any substance that may fall into it. Of course, the petrification is not absolute, but the substance is coated with a layer of stone, which is found dissolved in the lake, and the stone then hardens and forms a shell over the substance.

A well-known cutlery firm in England heard of this and sent a man over to inspect it. He selected several pieces of hardwood, which he sank with weights, and then marked the place with small buoys.

A fortnight later he returned and took up two pieces of the wood, which he found to be partly petrified. Two weeks after he drew up the other pieces, and found each piece to be as hard as flint.

The firm then made several experiments with the wood and found that at a certain stage of petrification an excellent razor hone could be manufactured from it.—London Tit-Bits.

Might Not Suit Jefferson.
A London editor says of Mount Vernon:

"Here can be seen and visualized the life of an English gentleman in America in the eighteenth century."

And then, applauding the effort to make Monticello a national possession, the editor adds:

"If a similar atmosphere can be introduced into Monticello as a memorial to Thomas Jefferson the committee will deserve the thanks of all lovers of democracy."

But not the thanks of T. J. himself, remarks Girard. To be regarded as an "English gentleman in America" would tickle him just as much as it would please Mr. Bryan to be labeled agent for John Barleycorn, or Senator Brookhart to be called the right bower of Henry Cabot Lodge.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Bit Mixed.

A tourist in Scotland was boastfully told by a resident of Tain that the place was a most noteworthy one, being one of the old royal burghs of the country. "Why," his informant went on, "its charter was granted by King David himself."

"Dear, dear me!" exclaimed the tourist. "You don't tell me so. Was that the—er—gentleman who wrote the Psalms?"—Boston Transcript.

The Mule's Definition.

A donkey looked over a hedge and saw a silver car standing by the roadside.

"What are you?" asked the donkey. "A motor car," replied the silver.

"What did you say?" asked the donkey.

"I said I was a motor car," repeated the silver.

"And I'm a horse," said the donkey.

Relapse.

He—What do you say to a honeymoon in Europe?

She—But, dearest, you know how afraid I am of seasickness.

"Yes, but you ought to know that love is the best remedy for that."

"Perhaps—but—think of the return trip."—Korsaren (Christiania).

Business Sense.

Saleslady (to storekeeper)—Gentleman asks if this undershirt will shrink?

Storekeeper—Does it fit him?

Saleslady—No, it's too large.

Storekeeper—Yes, of course it shrinks.

STANDARD merchandise
Standard prices are the twin guardians of your dollars. It is an economic axiom that one cannot exist without the other.

The one price system is shopping insurance for which you pay no premium. You pay the premium at stores that do not afford this protection! For one customer must pay more in order that another may pay less.

You can buy with safety only where the price is based on value and not on expediency; where no extra margin is put on for the majority in order that it may be taken off for the minority; where every customer pays as little as every other, and all customers get maximum value.

The East.
And then I saw the men of the East—they were looking at me. The whole length of the jetty was full of people. I saw brown, bronze, yellow faces, the black eyes, the glitter, the color of an Eastern crowd. And all these beings stared without a murmur, without a sigh, without a movement. . . . Nothing moved. The fronds of palms stood still against the sky. Not a branch stirred along the shore, and the brown roofs of hidden houses peeped through the green foliage, through the big leaves that hung shining and still like leaves forged of heavy metal. This was the East of the ancient navigators, so old, so mysterious, resplendent and somber, living and unchanged.—Joseph Conrad, in Youth.

Henry Hudson's Fate.
The first navigators who sailed on voyages of discovery to the new world had no easy task to control the adventurous crews who manned their vessels. The troubles that Columbus had to face are well known. Magellan was called upon to put down mutiny among the crew and rebellion among his officers. But to Henry Hudson, discoverer of the river that bears his name, fell the sad fate of being overpowered by mutineers and sent to certain doom at sea. The year following his discovery of Hudson river bay and Hudson strait, his crew rebelled, and seizing Hudson and eight others, bound them and set them adrift in a small boat on Hudson bay, June 23, 1611. They were never heard from again.

Dramatic Power.
The first thing that strikes any one who has tried to read Jane Austen's novels aloud is the dramatic power displayed in the conversations. No novelist ever made his or her characters express themselves so simply or forcibly in their parts as she does. It would seem that we have lost in her one of our greatest playwrights. The unfolding of character in dialogue has not been better done by any of our dramatists, and has certainly not been approached by any other novelist. No novels make so immediate an appeal when declaimed as hers do. Even youthful audiences who are popularly supposed to be incapable of appreciating the subtlety of her wit are quickly entranced.—S. P. B. Mals.

Thin-Model Watches Old Stuff.
The small, thin-model watches of modern times are nothing new, declares a writer in the Popular Science Monthly, showing how timepieces no larger than a dime were produced entirely by hand in the Eighteenth century.

In Olden Times.
It was a popular belief in olden times that a dead man's hand could dispel tumor of the glands by stroking the affected parts nine times; the hand of a man who had been cut down from the gallows was most efficacious.

MANY ODD WILLS

Spite Is Often Carried Beyond the Grave.

Anti-Mortem Vindictiveness Is Often Displayed in Last Testaments.

Spite is often carried beyond the grave, just another proof of the weakness of human nature. We might think that bitter feelings would die before the Grim Reaper, but there are many cases on record which disprove this.

Recently a wealthy man who died in New Jersey cut off his wife and daughter with a mere pittance. In leaving the latter £2 12s a month, he explained that one pound is to remind her of the day she called him a "black pig," and another pound in honor of the time she hit him, while the 12s marked the occasion when she "complained" of his cough.

Wives have often come in for very rough handling in the wording of wills. A Bristol sailor left his widow £1 with which to buy nuts, as he asserted she took more pleasure in cracking them than in mending his stockings.

A certain Lieutenant Colonel Nash—no connection of Penn Nash—bequeathed to the ringers of Bath Abbey an annuity of £10 "provided they should muffle the clappers of the bells and ring them with doleful accentuation from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. on each anniversary of his wedding day, and during the same number of hours, only with a merry peal, on the anniversary of the day which released him from domestic tyranny and wretchedness."

But a man need not actually have entered the bonds of matrimony to write vindictively of the opposite sex. Here is a clause from the will of an old bachelor: "I beg that my executors see that I am buried where there are no women interred either to right or left of me. Should this not be practicable in the ordinary course of things, I direct that they purchase three graves and bury me in the middle one of the three, leaving the two others unoccupied."

"During my married life," writes another testator, "I have always declared that my wife was the dearest woman in the world, and I am convinced that if any other should be as rash enough to marry her he will find her so. To deter as far as possible anyone from making such a ruinous experiment, I leave her nothing."

Another man left all his money to his wife, but stipulated that she should lose £200 every time she appeared in public unveiled, £200 every time she smiled at a man, and £1,000 if she allowed a man to use an endearing expression to her or to kiss her.

Meanest of all, however, was the man who left his wife one farthing with directions that it should be forwarded to her in an unstamped envelope.

One of the most vindictive wills on record was that of the famous Lord Kew, a very wealthy but sharp-tongued peer who, having neither wife nor child to annoy, took it out of his relatives. A sample item of his amazing will is as follows:

"By a previous will I had left £50,000 to my brother John but as he has sent his son to Oxford instead of Cambridge, contrary to my expressed wish, I reduce his legacy to £500."—London Answers.

"Smiling, the Boy Fell Dead."

Little Willie was the best brought-up youth in his community, but there were times when his training was strained. On one occasion his mother detected the odor of tobacco on his breath.

"Willie, you naughty, naughty boy!" she exclaimed. "You've been smoking. You'll be sick."

To which the polite child replied, wistfully:

"Thank you, mother, I'm dying."—American Legion Weekly.

Got What He Ordered.

There is a New York scientist who is greatly interested in coal mining. He decided to subscribe to a press-clipping bureau, to get every new slant on coal. He said to the service bureau:

"I want everything you can find about coal." The first clipping he got was an article about a man who was suing his wife for a separation because she bit him on the head with a lump of coal.

Awful Dishonesty.

"You simply can't trust anybody nowadays. Everybody seems so dishonest. My maid, in whom I had the utmost confidence, left me suddenly and took with her my beautiful pearl brooch."

"That is too bad!" sympathized her friend. "Which one was it?"

"The very pretty one I smuggled through last autumn."

Conceited.

"What makes you think he's conceited?"

"He told me this evening that he thought I ought to congratulate his boss on the fact that he had such a wonder in his employ."

Toll, Think and Hope.

Toll, feel, think, hope; you will be sure to dream enough before you die, without arranging for it.—J. Sterling.

Chic Japanese Kimono; Red as Ground Color

This very beautiful Japanese kimono is shown in a soft silk with a drop-stitched line running through. The ground color is red, with a Japanese pattern in blue and white.

Thorn Tree Cure for Ills.

The May blossom is the subject of some curious superstitions. Both the black and white thorn are said to be descended from the thorn of India, which, being sprung from lightning, is not only immune from danger in a thunderstorm, but possesses many magical gifts, a recent writer says, according to the Detroit News. The leaves from it are believed by many people to be a cure for all cases of inflammation, while a bough of blossom hung at the door is a safeguard against witchcraft, but the blossom should not be taken into the house lest it bring disease with it. Many old countrymen will not cut down a hawthorne bush. They do not know why, though actually they are perpetuating an old belief that the bush is sacred, because from it, it is said, the crown of thorns for Christ was made.

Modern History.

"Why do your pupils look so tortured?"

"They have to memorize the names of towns where peace conferences were held after the great war."—Zurich Nebelspatter.

Important To All Mothers

YOUR children can always be charmingly dressed if you will starch their wash clothes with Linit—the remarkable starch discovery.

Even ordinary cotton goods, napkins, table-cloths, curtains, etc., have a soft, pliable finish like expensive linen, when starched with Linit.

A New Starch Discovery

LINIT is a scientific starch discovery—distinctly different from ordinary starches. After Linit is thoroughly dissolved, according to directions and is ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance.

Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches, and is much easier to iron with.

Linit penetrates the fabric, helps prevent wear, and prolongs the life of the material.

With Linit you can have your shirt waists look like new. The children can have their garments finished in the daintiest style, equal to the most beautiful French finish.

Linit is sold by all grocers, 10c—Perfection in starching is guaranteed or your money refunded.

Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch—Karo Syrup and Mazola Salad and Cooking Oil.

Fashion Notes That Will Appeal to Women

Many of the strictly tailored models are characterized by fine tucking. The termination of tucks at a point several inches below the waist gives a long line effect to the frock. Most of the frocks of this style are made on perfectly straight lines, with the beltless mode predominating. One especially successful dress of this type has a high collar, long, tight sleeves and no trimming except a narrow band of silk embroidery around the hem of the skirt, which dips slightly upward toward the side fastening.

Wide sleeves of black silk lace enhance a draped black satin velvet gown, caught at the side with a rhinestone buckle. Plaited panels and the square neck are features of other models in Parisian exhibits. One is cut velvet in café au lait color, another of chenille velours with panels of crepe du jour.

For motor, steamer or travel wear, sports attire, developed in the popular tweeds, is very much in the foreground of fashion. Mixtures of gray, tan and brown colorings are especially effective. A great many of these are fashioned in the cape coat mode, either with the sleeves banded in circular folds simulating the cape effect, or the coat itself flaunting a detachable cape.

Among the types of sleeve most prominent is one tight to a little below the elbow, and there slashed, piped and puffed, ending in a tight wristband.

Green, in various soft shades, almond and bottle green, is favored, and remains a favorite for semi-formal and street frocks.

The newest formal gowns introduce the train at the side, rather than the back. The trains drape forward as gracefully as backward with each step the wearer takes.

Three-Quarter Length Mandarin Style Coats

Generally speaking there is no more becoming fashion to the average woman than that of a coat of three-quarter length worn with a frock to match. Slender in line, a costume of this type is not only graceful and dignified, but extremely smart as well. For the woman of rather moderate dress allowance it is probably the most satisfactory choice she could make. It serves so many purposes and may be worn on both formal and informal occasions.

It is in a costume of this type that the Chinese influence is so pronounced. The lines of the coat, the cut of the sleeves and the details of trimming have been copied from a mandarin coat.

A new fashion that has appeared shows a man's which has a skirt of striped wool with a fur trimmed coat of plain color, or the order is reversed. These are what might be called semi-sports suits and are just the thing for early autumn days in the country or for a suit to wear in the morning when shopping.

The question of waistline still remains a matter of individual choice, since many of the best designs show a rather long waist while others place it a bit nearer the natural line. It is claimed, however, that the long line gives an appearance of youth and therefore is perhaps the more popular choice.

New and Unusual

A coat which is a striking exponent of the new mode is in color a marvelous tone called Egyptian granite, somewhat like rosewood. It is trimmed with bands of heavier slightly separated so that one glimpses the color of the fabric. These bands are arranged to extend only across one side, leaving the other plain. The effect is new and unusual.

How Gate Avoid Collisions

Bats avoid collisions with trees, etc., when flying in pitch darkness, not by sight, but by emitting a powerful vibrating note, inaudible to human ears. This vibratory all-wave reacts upon meeting an obstacle, and so warns the bat automatically of danger.

How Women Mail Letters. Femininity has its own way of posting a simple, everyday letter. According to one keen observer. For instance, out of 30 women who were watched at a street letter box in the residential section of a large city, 2 withdrew the letter before quite letting go of it, to scan both sides of the envelope, to be certain the letter was securely sealed, properly addressed, stamped and to make sure nobody could look through the envelope to read the contents.

Boots Made of Shark Hides. By fashioning the hides of sharks into hip-high boots, finished for use in the mountains or along the trout streams, a Northwestern shoemaker has developed a flourishing business. Because the footwear gives such satisfactory service, its popularity is increasing rapidly, and there is a steadily growing demand for the raw product, not only for that industry but for furniture upholstery.—Popular Mechanics.

CONVICT'S LOVE FOR SON COSTLY

Kansas City Auto Thief Sacrifices Freedom for Glimpse of His Child.

MUST SERVE 20 YEARS

Kansas City, Mo.—Twenty years behind the grim, gray walls of the Oklahoma state penitentiary was the price Freddie O'Neil knew he would have to pay when he came to Kansas City a few days ago.

But Freddie, notorious motorcar thief and bad man, didn't care.

For Freddie, what else the cost, wanted to see a little lad, on whose chubby face he had not laid eyes in three years.

Freddie, quarry of police all over the continent since he escaped from the McAlester penitentiary last February, was captured recently in the soft drink place of Harvey Leopold, Fifth street and the Blue river, where he was bartender. George McNally and A. W. Cruger, city detectives, recognized him there.

Was Crafty Auto Thief.

Freddie is only thirty-three, but his shoulders are bent from the burden of his transgression. Weary and dejected, ad now, he is a different man from the one who was known here five years ago as the crafty and elusive motorcar thief.

His Little Face Hovered Before Me.

To Lieut. L. R. Toyne, superintendent of the motorcar theft bureau, O'Neil told his story. But he didn't tell all.

"Well, Freddie," Toyne prompted, "you haven't told us yet what brought you back to Kansas City. Didn't you know you were bound to be sneezed?"—underworld parlance for arrested sooner or later.

O'Neil hung his head and kept silent.

"You just couldn't stay away, could you?" the lieutenant pressed.

"No," the prisoner replied dully. "It wasn't that. I could have stayed away as far as Kansas City is concerned. I didn't think you cops would recognize me. But I'd have come back here anyway. It didn't make any difference."

He told of Love for Son.

Then Freddie told the story of his love for his seven-year-old son.

"All the time I was in the stir his little face hovered before me," he said. "It was awful! I would wake up from a dream in which he had his arms around my neck and hear him call, 'Daddy!'"

"That's what brought me back, fellows," he mumbled, his eyes welding with tears.

"He didn't know you, did he, Freddie?" asked Toyne.

"Yes, he did, too! The little fellow knew me as soon as I started across the yard from the car. He knew he was all right."

"It was worth the chance I took—and more too."

O'Neil declined to say where the child was, except.

"He's living with a good family in a good home."

Caught in a raid on Leopold's place a short time ago, O'Neil spent the night in a cell at police headquarters.

But the next morning he was released and departed. He had not been recognized.

A small crack in the ceiling was noticed. Prying at this caused a small trapdoor to open, and in the attic in a tin milk can $15,000 was found. Haines left no will. His four brothers and four sisters will get his estate.

Power and Control.

"What is your idea of a great statesman?" "A great statesman," answered Senator Sorghum, "is a man who not only knows what he is talking about, but also knows how to avoid talking too much."

GUARD LOSES LIFE AFTER HURLING FIVE TO SAFETY

Former New York Policeman Killed After Rescuing Workers From Path of Speeding Train.

New York.—Their safety in the hands of "Big Jack" Gilmartin, forty-one, former New York city policeman, whose duty it was to blow a whistle and warn them of approaching trains, ten trackmen were repairing the New York Central railroad at Park avenue and One Hundred and Sixty-sixth street when Gilmartin heard the roar of an inbound train.

He whistled. The ten sprang to the opposite track. Gilmartin then saw that the train, an electric express, had taken the track upon which they stood and was racing toward them. He shouted. The roar of the train drowned his cries.

Five of the gang saw the train and jumped to safety. Gilmartin and the other five were trapped with only a second to act.

Gilmartin leaped forward and hurled the five flat on the ground beside the rails. An instant later he was hit and thrown high in the air, but all of his men were saved.

He was dead when his comrades picked him up. The train went on, the motorman unaware of the accident. Police found the ten trackmen, several of them sobbing, bending over their heroic guardian.

Murderer's Skeleton and Confession Found in Cabin

Hagerstown, Md.—Stained and brittle from resting 40 years in its niche, subject to the elements, the confession of a murderer, Lee Singleton, a native of Crisfield, Md., and some fifty years a resident of this city, was found recently in a crevice between the logs of a cabin in Culver canyon, near Eureka, Nev., by James Thornton, a survivor, according to word received here.

Lying in the cabin bunk was a man's skeleton, a gold watch, engraved with the initials "L. R. S.," and a watch chain, from which hung a large silver nugget.

Following are portions of the confession which could be deciphered: "After 14 years of wandering I am back in the cabin which I built six years ago. Surely, those six years of hell should go toward the final reckoning. I wonder if any one will ever read this, or will it not beside me."

"Seems if I could lie down easier if I write out that which I could not dare whisper since I done it. My name is Lee Singleton, born in Crisfield, Md.; enlisted in the Southern army, was wounded twice and served until the close of the war, when my parents died."

"I landed in Eureka in 1871, where I went to work as a feeder in the Richmond furnace. My companion was one John Murphy, an overbearing man. He insulted me on several occasions, being much stronger and a bully. He struck me one day. Murphy signed his death warrant then and there."

"I waited two weeks for my opportunity, and when it finally presented itself I struck him on the head with my shovel and threw his body into that roaring inferno. As the charge of charcoal sank he was soon out of sight. I seemed as if every shovelful of ore flung into the feed hole of the furnace struck Murphy's body, and the bubbling of the blast took to itself speech and upbraided me for my wickedness."

Freak of Nature Beautifies Cataract in Washington

Longmire, Wash.—A freak of nature has changed the face of Narada falls so that visitors returning to view the cataract barely recognize it. During the past winter a large fir log fell over the crest and in dropping lodged between two rocks just over the brim. The tumbling waters of Paradise river which form Narada falls now strike this log in such a manner as to spread out in a five-finger formation which, according to Mount Rainier devotees, enhances the beauty of the falls.

Mud Wasps Build Nests in Grandfather's Clock

Lansdale, Pa.—Mud wasps, several nests of them, were the cause of stopping an old grandfather's clock, the property of Frank S. Gottschalk of Park avenue.

The clock had kept correct time for years until a few days ago, when it began to show symptoms of internal disorder. Upon investigation it was found there were several nests of wasps inside, which were playing havoc with the works.

Seven-Year-Old Boy Saves Baby From Burning Home

Orlando, Fla.—Frank Eaton, a seven-year-old lad of this city, proved himself a hero when he saved his two-year-old sister from their home, which was in flames.

Frank's parents, who were attending their dairy trade at the time, saw their home in flames and rushed to the scene, only to find entrance impossible. As they returned to the front of the house, they met the boy coming out, his baby sister in his arms.

Lived After Pulse Stopped

Stratford, Conn.—Physicians said that Jack R. Leary, seven years old, of this city lived five hours after his pulse stopped throbbing. Stimulants were used to keep life in his body.

RED CROSS ADVANCING IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Extends Service to New Fields and Brings Healing Hope to Remote Sections.

"The supreme opportunity for leadership" for the American Red Cross is its health service. Thus a committee made up of prominent physicians, sanitarians and public health experts, after months of exhaustive study, reported and urged that not only should the Red Cross continue its present service, but should undertake a comprehensive educational campaign along public health lines. The annual report of the American Red Cross, just issued, discloses that it has grasped this opportunity in the fields of public health nursing, instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition work, first aid to the injured and in water life-saving.

Health service is fundamentally, historically and practically an important function of the Red Cross, and each year marks its extension into new fields and along broader lines. In the Red Cross Nursing Service there are enrolled nearly 40,000 nurses, 20,000 of whom served during the World War. The past year Red Cross nurses were assigned to duty in isolated sections of Alaska and North Carolina and to work among the fishermen of Penobscot Bay, Me.

The Public Health Nursing Service, inaugurated by the American Red Cross in 1912, which operates chiefly in rural sections untouched by other public health agencies, has 1,038 Red Cross nurses working under the direction of Chapters. This work has won so high a regard that many of the nurses are taken over by the local authorities to maintain health services for their communities. Instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick is making a steady advance. Since 1914 certificates of proficiency have been given 304,427 women who completed the Red Cross course. In the last year 26,595 certificates were awarded and 65,901 students were under the instruction of 1,054 Red Cross nurses.

The benefits derived from meals balanced to meet each person's peculiar needs is winning widespread recognition through the work of the Red Cross Nutrition Service, particularly in the schools. During the school year 2,638 carried on regular instruction in nutrition, reached more than 150,000 children and adults. More than 2,250 volunteers assisted in this work. Throughout the country 35,233 health meetings were held under Red Cross auspices, attended by approximately 254,500 persons.

Annual Summons to Red Cross Banner On Armistice Day

America's great humanitarian effort in behalf of stricken Japan early in September gave the answer to the question, "What is there for the Red Cross to do in time of peace?" What the American Red Cross did at once when this crushing earthquake disaster came without warning showed that it was ready on the instant with country-wide team work to carry out quickly and effectively the request of the President to lead the national effort for the relief of the many thousands of sufferers. Preparedness to take the field when relief is needed is a charter duty of the Red Cross. Without a membership enrolled in every community in the land this readiness would be impossible. That is why your dollar membership is most important.

It is imperative that the structure of the American Red Cross be made up of millions of individual units. Opening Armistice Day, November 11, and closing with Thanksgiving Day, November 29, the Roll Call this year will penetrate to the ends of the earth and to the ships sailing the seven seas. The 3,600 Red Cross Chapters in the United States will have their busy volunteers enrolling members during this period imbued with renewed enthusiasm due to the recent revival of effort when the call came from Japan.

USE FOR SULPHITE LIQUID

Alcohol and Fuel to Be Derived From Paper Mill Waste by New Process.

Waste sulphite liquid that now pours from paper mills into rivers will be utilized in manufacturing alcohol and fuel by means of a new chemical process recently discovered and thoroughly tested by chemical engineers.

This announcement, considered one of the most important in years in the paper industry, will be made before the cellulose division of the American Chemical Society by Prof. R. H. McKee, head of the chemical department of Columbia University, who was associated with Dr. Max Kalin, New York, in the discovery and preparation of litarvin, one of the two recently discovered substances that check diabetes.

"At present, for every cord of wood used in the paper mills the manufacturer obtains 1,000 pounds of pulp and 1,000 gallons of waste sulphite liquor, which flows into the rivers adjoining the plants, causing death of fish, disagreeable odors and other inconveniences so great that stringent laws have been passed in some states, and were they rigidly enforced, mills would have to close down," declared Doctor McKee.

"Under the new process this waste liquor will be fermented and a good grade of commercial alcohol obtained. Then after the alcohol has been distilled off, the residual material will be evaporated and may be used as fuel."—Milwaukee Journal.

LEADS IN MEDICAL SCHOOLS

United States Has Eighty-two Out of the Total of 445 in the World.

Out of an approximate total of 445 medical schools in the world, the United States predominates with 82 schools, according to a list prepared by the Rockefeller Foundation. Next come the British Isles with 43, followed by France with 32, Russia with 23, Germany with 23, China with 24, Italy with 22, Japan with 20, India with 18, Spain with 11, Mexico with 11, Brazil with 10, Canada with 9, Netherlands with 8, Poland with 5, Switzerland with 5 and Belgium with 5. Fifty-four other countries support from one to four medical schools each. Not only do standards differ greatly between countries, but even within national areas, notably in the United States, medical schools are of distinctly different grades as measured by personnel, equipment, resources and ideals. In spite of great variation in quality, however, all these centers of teaching are more or less directly dominated by the aims and methods of modern medicine. It is one aim of the Rockefeller Foundation, says the report, to hasten the development of international co-operation in medical education, by all available means.

New Sugar Beet Digger.

It is said that a machine for toppling and digging sugar beet promises to eliminate much of the back-breaking work of harvesting. The apparatus resembles a potato digger in general outline, but in front of the lifts that remove the roots from the ground is a revolving disk twenty inches in diameter, so adjusted by a spring and roller that it measures the cutting distance from the top of the beet instead of from the ground. Immediately behind the disk are two lifts that remove the beets from the ground and deliver them to an endless-chain elevator that frees them of dirt and dumps them out behind the machine. As the top and head of the sugar beet contains an acid that counteracts the sugar in the rest of the root, a harvester must measure the beets and cut them at the right place.

Rearing Wild Furbearers.

Important progress has been made in investigations pertaining to the raising of wild fur-bearing animals in captivity, says the Scientific American. Fur farms are reported from 25 states where foxes, skunks, minks, opossums, martens, muskrats, squirrels and beavers are raised.

It is estimated that 500 ranchers are raising silver foxes in the United States, that they have between 12,000 and 15,000 foxes in captivity, and that the value of the investment is about $3,000,000.

The discovery of the fact that martens breed the last of July and in August has solved the problem which has heretofore prevented the successful rearing of these animals in captivity and has opened up an important field to the fur farmer.

Again the Young Idea.

Two small boys were talking together on the beach.
"I say, what's your father?"
"He's an architect."
"Hub, mine's not. He's a soldier."
"My father was a soldier in the war, too."
"Hub, anybody can be a soldier when there's a war."—London Daily News.

Tanahuni!

"You are not listening to me," complained Jane Muchmore at breakfast the other morning.
"I didn't know you had said anything, dear," returned the meek Mr. Muchmore.

"I haven't, but I expect to," said Jane.—Howard Courant.

No More Stains on Children's Teeth!

New Harmless Liquid Quickly Dissolves Every Stain—Whitens Teeth

Nothing spoils a child's whole appearance quicker than stained, dull or yellowish teeth. But now every child can have teeth that are perfectly clear and flashing white and keep them that way always. For a new and absolutely safe liquid has been perfected which instantly dissolves all teeth stains, giving even the duldest teeth a marvelous sparkle and whiteness.

This new liquid, called Bleachodont, contains certain harmless ingredients which actually curdle or loosen the staining substances, so that they may be instantly removed by an ordinary tooth brush. Even the most unightly stains usually disappear with the first application of Bleachodont. Highly endorsed by dentists. Cannot possibly affect enamel and will not act on any except surface stains. Fine for removing tobacco stains, etc., from adults' teeth. Get Bleachodont today on money back guarantee. Costs just a few cents at good drug and department stores everywhere, such as:

SATURDAY IS ROOSEVELT DAY

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Oct. 25.—In a proclamation issued today, Governor Alfred E. Smith called upon the people of New York state to observe the 65th anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt on Saturday, October 27.

"As a citizen, a soldier, the governor of this state and the president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt did so much to instill in our hearts and minds the meaning of true Americanism," the governor's proclamation said.

"His life should be an inspiration to the youths of this state and nation and an example to all as it so fully indicates that perseverance and courage will overcome seemingly insurmountable barriers."

Roosevelt's birthplace in New York city will be dedicated on Saturday to the educational work among the children to which it is to be devoted.

D. A. R. TO ATTEND ROOSEVELT DAY MEETING.

Mrs. Henry VanHoevenberg, regent of Wilkes Chapter, D. A. R., requests that as many members of the chapter as can do so attend the Roosevelt Day exercises to be held at the Kingston High School on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in acceptance of the invitation to do so, received from Mayor Crane.

DR. FITE'S FIRST LECTURE TO BE DELIVERED NOV. 1.

The Junior League, which is carrying on the child welfare work in the city and operating the baby clinic, announces that Dr. Fite, of the Vassar faculty, will give six lectures in all on "Problems of the Day." The first lecture will be on "England, France and Germany Today." Dr. Fite has just returned from a summer spent abroad in the study of his subject and will lecture in the chapel of the First Reformed Church on Thursday, November 1, at 3:30 o'clock. Announcement of later subjects and places of the lectures will appear in subsequent issues of The Freeman. Tickets for the course of six lectures will be $5 and may be secured from any member of the Junior League.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, Oct. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Eli Mackey and family attended the funeral of their uncle, William McCauley at New Paltz on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Monell, Mrs. Eli Mackey, Mrs. Isaac Sutton and daughter attended the Sunday school convention at Kingston last Tuesday.

A social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Birch on Friday evening, October 26. A fine musical program is being arranged and a chicken supper will be served.

Mrs. J. W. Monell entertained nine ladies at a quilting party last Thursday. All spent a very enjoyable day and wish these parties might continue during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Halt and daughter Doris, and Mr. Arnois of Middletown, visited with Mrs. I. Sutton and family on Sunday.

INDIAN'S THRILLING YARN ABOUT SNAKE FIGHT

Cherokee Brave Declares Joint Reptile Attached Tail of Rattler and Fled to the Hills.

St. Paul.—William Choleta, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian living on Spavinaw creek, in the Flint Hill district of the old Cherokee nation, had a reputation for veracity that was unchallenged until he related this snake story. But now—well, here's Bill's story:

He was fishing along Spavinaw creek when his attention was attracted by a commotion behind him. Investigation disclosed a big rattler and a joint snake in deadly combat. Choleta was curious as to the outcome, but in the Spavinaw country rattlesnake oil is a specific for rheumatism, lumbago, chilblains and the like, so Choleta took matters into his own hands and killed the rattler. Then he cut off its head and tail.

The joint snake which had been fighting for its life lay scattered in several directions on the ground, according to Bill, and, true to its nature, it set about trying to connect the scattered fragments. But in its hurry, Choleta said, the joint snake picked up the tail of its enemy instead of its own. It was well that was the last fragment for the joint snake was too frightened to assemble any more. Every movement caused the rattles to sound, and the joint snake, apparently believing it was still pursued by the enemy, set out across the hills like greased lightning.

Rat Trained on Bootleg Booze Knocks Out Two Cats

Kansas City, Mo.—Fed up on corn whiskey, "Siki," a large, grizzled rat, "knocked out" two husky cats here in a two-round bout witnessed by cheering crowds.

The rat, trained for two days on cheese soaked in bootleg whisky, disposed of his opponents one at a time. The big fellow was discovered in the basement of the city jail. When he failed to succumb to a diet of corn whiskey, policemen dubbed him "Siki," and arranged a battle with the two biggest cats available.

"Tabby," an old gray cat from the city hall, was put in the pit first. "Siki" rose on his hind legs, plunged fiercely toward the feline, biting and scruffling at her back. "Tabby" withdrew to her corner, and her seconds threw up the sponge.

The fight promoters then placed "Tom," champion alley heavyweight of the city, in the ring. Tom turned his back, withdrew to his corner and crouched in fear at the onslaught.

A policeman referee raised his club over the rat and declared him winner.

Conscience-Struck Woman Pays Fare 10 Years Later

Wichita, Kan.—Conscience is a relentless creditor.

This is why a woman entered the Rock Island passenger offices here several days ago and said to the passenger agent: "Mister, I am here on a peculiar mission. I came to pay for my two children's tickets which I should have bought ten years ago. I wasn't a Christian then, and I lied about the children's ages. The amount was $7.25."

Mr. Keyes, the agent, told her to forget about the incident. The woman was persistent and he wrote the general passenger agent of the road, who told him to collect $4.25. The woman refused to be satisfied until she paid the full $7.25. She then told him how she had lied numerous times before she joined the church and how she now was paying off all debts of honor.

Montreal Man to Build $3,000 Home for His Hens

Paul Smith, N. Y.—Dr. W. L. McDougald of Montreal is going to mitigate the ruggedness of life in the wilderness both for himself and for his hens, pigs and cows. A $3,000 chalet is to be erected for the hens; the pigs, it is thought, will be content with a $2,000 bungalow that is being constructed for them. A community house for the cows is being put up at an expense of $5,000. A living room for the owner is being added to Doctor McDougald's farm at an expense of $50,000.

Other campers also are adding the little conveniences of civilization to their cabins.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Stylish Coat Dress.

4492. This fashionable model will develop well in kasha cloth or in satin. As illustrated, soutache braid was used for trimming on collar and cuffs, a vest of embroidery in Oriental colors makes a very attractive finish.

The pattern is cut in 6 sizes. 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 3 1/2 yards of 54 inch material. To make the vest of contrasting material requires 1 1/2 yard 9 inches wide or wider. The width of the skirt at the foot is 17 1/2 yard. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies and Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Scientists Tell Us—

"The true flavor of coffee is a volatile oil, instantly soluble in boiling water, when the oil-cells are evenly exposed by fine grinding.

"The elements in coffee that often cause distress are less soluble and readily isolated from the brewed coffee by a quick infusion.

"It is the only way to extract and retain in the cup the flavor of fine coffee without waste and contamination. By other methods the flavor is more or less cooked into the air."

PUL-VO-DRIP Barrington Hall Coffee

Pul-Vo-Drip Barrington Hall is not pulverized as the word might imply, but cut fine, so that boiling water acts directly on the oil-cells, insuring instant extraction. The strength is regulated by the amount of coffee used, not by excessive steeping or percolating.

DIRECTIONS

In preparing good coffee the art is in getting out the strength and saving the flavor at the same time—that is where Pul-Vo-Drip excels.

In an ordinary pot, simply pour boiling water over it, allow to settle two or three minutes, then pour or strain into another vessel (preferably china). In a percolator, allow half the usual time. Quick infusion is the secret.

We have designed a coffee pot that does it all in one operation and does it right. For information and free offer, ask your grocer or write to us.

SCOUT MEETING FRIDAY EVENING

Citizens Committee to be Chosen Representing All Interests and Campaign Chairman to be Named—History of City's Oldest Troop.

Friday night there will be a meeting of the executive committee in connection with the campaign for funds to carry on the work of the Boy Scouts for the next year. This meeting will be held in the office of Ward Everett, 260 Fair street, at 8 o'clock.

This is a very important meeting and for the purpose of determining the main policies under which the campaign will be conducted. The citizens' committee will be selected. The Scout organization is one of the few organizations which has a sufficiently broad program to include every one of the various community interests. This committee will, therefore, arrange for representation on this committee from the various religious, professional and governmental activities. The final selection of the campaign chairman will be made at this meeting.

Wednesday afternoon on account of the rain there was a small attendance at the Federated Parent-Teacher Association and it developed into an informal conference between Mrs. W. J. Whiston, vice-president of the Federated Association, Mrs. Potter, president of the Association at Public School No. 5, Miss Cordes, the high school representative and Messrs. Neslage and Gordon, on the subject of Scouting. It developed that the ladies were very strongly in favor of the movement and were all anxious that everything be done to place more troops throughout the city. There was a common agreement among all those present that present day conditions have so changed that they deprive the boys of the opportunities to do those things which occupy their leisure time and that it is necessary to provide them with not only something to do but a simple code to live by which is specifically designed for the boys themselves and which they can readily understand. It was believed that the Scout oath and law effectively did this. Considerable discussion was had as to the influence of the "gang spirit," and this phase of boys' life it was felt was capitalized in the organization of a patrol of eight scouts.

The following interesting history of Troop No. 6, Kingston, gives actual facts as to just what the Scout movement means not only to the Scouts themselves but to the church and community.

Troop No. 6 of Kingston was organized in April, 1917, in connection with the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, just at the beginning of America's entrance into the World War, and is the oldest troop in Kingston with a continuous history. During the war the troop was connected with the secret service work of the United States Navy, and performed many other duties such as the selling of Liberty bonds, the distribution of government literature, and emergency services in connection with the influenza epidemic and on other occasions. The members of the troop have been called upon for many public services and have always responded with the utmost willingness and alacrity. The membership of the troop has changed somewhat during the years of its existence, the earlier scouts having left on account of reaching the age limit or removal from town, but others have joined from time to time, and recently the troop has started on a new period of growth and interest. The troop possesses a number of trophies won at scout rallies and field days and a flag for war service presented by the United States government. Regular meetings of the troop are held twice a month, with occasional special meetings and hikes, and the scoutmaster is always at home to the boys on Thursday afternoons after school to give instruction and tests in scouting. A bicycle hike was held on Columbus Day, at which time a number of scouts passed tests in fire-building, cooking, and other out-of-door requirements. In accordance with a request from national headquarters, a memorial service for the late President Harding will be held on Friday evening, November 2nd. The following are the officers of the troop: Scoutmaster, Arthur S. Cole; assistant scoutmasters, Lester E. Decker, W. W. Brady, Jr., Paul Jones; senior patrol leader, Raymond Safford; scout scribe, Franklin Owen; field patrol leaders, Vernon Van Nostrand, Charles Ashley; assistant patrol leaders, Donald Plough, Harold Stahl.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT LIVINGSTON STREET CHURCH

The Rev. H. E. Jacobs will occupy the pulpit at Livingston Street Lutheran Church this Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Jacobs is field secretary of the Walther League for the Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Wheatridge, Colo. The Walther League is the association of young people's societies within the Synodical Conference of the Lutheran church. During the past few years this association has been busy gathering funds for the building of a sanitarium for consumptives. At present an effort is being made to clear this institution of debt. This probably will be done by the close of the year. Besides the various districts of the Walther League are supporting men in the mission fields of India and China.

The German morning service will be a Reformation service. Holy communion will be observed. Pastor Jacobs will preach the Reformation sermon. In the evening Pastor Jacobs will lecture on the Sanitarium at Wheatridge. The offering of the evening service will be given to the sanitarium. A large audience is expected to hear Pastor Jacobs. On a flying trip to Kingston early in the summer at which time he attended a meeting of the Young People's Society and at the Walther League convention at Holyoke, Mass., in September, Pastor Jacobs created much enthusiasm for his work and all are looking forward to his coming. A cordial invitation is extended to all members and non-members to attend one or both of these services. The Bible Class will meet as usual at 9:15.

MASONIC CLUB FAIR PROMISES HUGE SUCCESS

The Masonic Club fair opened Wednesday evening with a "bang." Everybody and his brother was there, and all were having a regular "Masonic Club good time." Paul Zucca's dance orchestra reeled off their peppy music, when Paul Zucca himself sang, "Oh How She Lied to Me." Everyone was with him.

The domestic booth under the chairmanship of Mrs. Coutant was doing a "land office business." Mrs. Sam Messenger was kept hustling at her "nonsense" booth, and the "sweet soodie" booth with Miss Flora Parr and Miss Gladys Crow as attentive and attractive shop-keepers were surely selling home made candy. The booths were decorated unusually pretty in orange and black with black cats looking at you everywhere. Credit is due to Mr. Seamon for these decorations. George Main as chief caterer was on the go all evening trying to fill up the crowd with dainty refreshments. There was hardly a "morsel or drop" left when closing time came.

Prof. Van Dusen entertained with a few of his sleight of hand tricks. The mind reading trick is the mystery of the age. People are still wondering how it is possible for any human being to do this trick, it's a wonder.

This evening Thurley Hicks will give some interesting recitations. The fair will be continued Thursday and Friday afternoon and evening. Dancing each evening, music by Paul Zucca's dance orchestra.

BEHRENS SUCCEEDS SECRETARY MACK

Of Kingston Oil Company—John Mack No Longer In Oil Business—Company Prospering.

Following a well cooked and well served banquet at the Eagle Hotel, specially arranged for the occasion by C. Everett Barnes, the new manager of the ancient inn, the Kingston Oil Company held a special meeting Wednesday evening for the purpose of acting on the resignation of John P. Mack from the office of secretary and treasurer, Mr. Mack, through the sale of the Eagle Garage being no longer in the oil business. The resignation of Mr. Mack was accepted and Charles H. Behrens was elected as his successor. Informal reports showed the oil company to be in a prosperous condition with sales of Tydol and Vedool constantly increasing.

At the banquet preceding the meeting the menu was as follows:

Fruit Cocktail
Queen Olives Kalamazoo Celery
Bisque of Tomato aux Crotons
Broiled Spanish Mackerel Maitre d'Hotel
Parisienne Potatoes
Filet of Mignon Mushroom Sauce
Green Peas Potatoes Dutches

ALL GERMANY IN AN UPROAR

By Telegram to The Freeman
All Germany was torn today by secession, communism, strikes and battle in which many were killed and wounded.

London received a report that communists were marching upon Berlin and that troops were being rushed out to meet them.

Seven persons were killed in a battle at Aachen (Aix la Chapelle) when police attacked the separatists.

News from Germany indicates that the secessionist movement in the Rhineland had not made any progress, but the French foreign office received word that "the Rhineland republic was being extended and solidified."

Disorders broke out in Berlin. Troops were stirred by a report that 28 men had been shot in riots last week, but news of their deaths had been suppressed. It could not be confirmed.

Hamburg harbor is completely tied up.

The communists in Berlin proclaimed a general strike but later modified it to involve only the printers.

The military authorities warned against any strike of workmen engaged in "vital activities."

The situation in Saxony and Bavaria continues tense, each side waiting for the other to make a move.

The strike movement through Central Germany is growing. Nearly all the miners are out.

British officials said they attached no importance to the action of the French in the Rhine Palatinate adding the German secessionists to declare their autonomy.

About the Folks

Thompson, Who Was Also Arrested By Federal Officers Is Discharged—Beer Seized Not Above Prescribed Alcohol Contents.

On October 12 a number of Federal enforcement officers visited this city and armed with search warrants searched a number of places where beverages are sold and placed under arrest to appear before United States Commissioner in New York city, John Zaccaro, at 615 Broadway, Henry Thompson at Duto's, 19 Thomas street, Joseph Johnson at 58 North Front street, Louis Quick at Mayone's, lower North Front street, William Pattison at Jerry Isoldi's on Cornell street and Bernard Murray at his place on central Broadway.

Wednesday when the cases came before U. S. Commissioner Boyer the case against John Zaccaro was dismissed on motion of Roscoe Irwin his counsel, on the ground that the search warrant located the place at 615 Broadway and that the officers searched No. 615 Broadway, which is the Curcio building adjoining.

The case against Thompson who was arrested at Duto's, 19 Thomas street, was also dismissed because it is said the beer seized was not above the alcoholic content as prescribed by the Volstead act. George F. Kaufman was counsel for Duto. The other cases were held open.

David Whitaker of this city who was arrested in Saugerties, Tuesday evening for running an automobile while in an intoxicated condition, was held by Police Justice Harry D. Abel after a hearing Wednesday afternoon, to await the action of the grand jury. He was released on a bond given for his appearance when wanted.

Hunter Street Resident Discharged With Suspended Sentence in Police Court—Charged With Assaulting Young Son Of James Hicks.

Another chapter in the trouble between James Hicks and Robert Buckholz, both residents of Hunter street, was written in police court this morning when Mr. Buckholz was found guilty of a technical assault committed on young Charles Hicks, son of James Hicks, and was given a suspended sentence by Judge Schrick after a lively trial.

Attorney Frank W. Brooks appeared for Mr. Buckholz while Mr. Hicks was represented by Attorney Chris J. Flanagan. Several witnesses were called upon to testify at the hearing today.

Mr. Hicks, father of Charles, is now out on bail awaiting the action of the next grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree. Mr. Buckholz claims that Mr. Hicks hit him over the head with a hammer.

New York, Oct. 25.—The stock market opened heavy today. Fractional declines were scored throughout the list. S. S. Kresge and Company formed an exception, jumping five points to 160.

Trading was at an accelerated pace in the afternoon session, stock showing increasing heaviness. Motor and tire stocks turned weak, while the sugar group was reactionary, due to the decline in the price of refined sugar.

Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., of Kingston Post of the American Legion, who was one of the New York state delegates to the big American Legion convention in San Francisco, returned home from the west early this morning.

Mr. Murphy reports one of the most successful conventions ever held by the Legion. The trip to the convention city and return consumed nineteen days as the delegates from the east were given a number of side trips to interesting places along the route such as the Grand Canyon and Salt Lake City.

As there are but two league engagements a week, the officials felt independent basketball would be benefited if opportunities were afforded for league men to compete in these contests. With this in mind it was decided to permit not more than two league men form a club to play in exhibition games. If three or more league players from the same club should participate, a fine will be levied on each one. Also on the night of a league game no league players may appear in the same city in an exhibition without incurring a penalty.

No players are to be traded, sold or exchanged later than December 15 in the first half and February 15 in the second half of the season.

Tom Barlow was suspended indefinitely for failure to report to Greenpoint.

It was also decided that players should receive notice of their release at least 18 hours before the next contest of the particular club of which released player was a member, or salary to be paid for the game in question.

The managers were given permission to arrange as many exhibition games as they saw fit, and provided the full roster of league players were used.

ANTI KLAN MAN IS THROWN OUT
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 25.—Representative J. W. Callahan, a Farmer-Labor member of the Oklahoma house of representatives, was beaten and thrown bodily out of the House chamber this afternoon when he made charges against the character of his fellow members and declared that Grand Dragon H. C. Jewett, of the Oklahoma realm of the Ku Klux Klan dictated to the majority what legislation should be adopted and what should not.

Instantly Representative Jesse Pullen leaped for him with the cry: "That's a damned lie."

Pullen caught Callahan by the throat and bore him to the floor, as a score of enraged members crowded about.

They lifted Callahan to his feet and dragged him to the door, literally throwing him out.

FORD IS FOR COOLIDGE "IF"
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Detroit, Oct. 25.—I'm for President Coolidge, if he will enforce the prohibition laws," Henry Ford was quoted as saying today when a correspondent of a Detroit newspaper went to ask him what he thought of third party that was organized in Detroit.

"You can also say," continued Ford, "that I think that the president is going about the matter of enforcement in the right way."

PHOENIXA COLLISION CASE IS ON TRIAL
An action for damages brought by Tony Monico against Anita Swart was taken up for trial in the supreme court this morning. The action grows out of an alleged collision between a motorcycle of plaintiff, which he alleges was hit, and a Cadillac touring car of defendant. The accident happened just north of the village of Phoenixa. A Ford car going north which had been signalled to stop by two young girls who were endeavoring to "get a hitch," came to a stop and the car of defendant in charge of the chauffeur was following. The Cadillac car was coming to a stop behind the Ford but to the left of it when a motorcycle driven by plaintiff and accompanied by his wife in a side car came south. The plaintiff claims the motorcycle was hit on the handle bar by the Cadillac and he was forced to the ditch and overturned, injuring himself and wife, and damaging his machine.

Defendant claims the Cadillac car did not touch the motorcycle but that the cycle ran down a slight bank and past the Cadillac some 25 feet more or less and then struck a rut and overturned.

John W. Eckert appears for plaintiff and Howard Chipp for defendant.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Elizabeth Coddington of Moxvass Heights, who suffered a stroke on Monday, October 15, died Monday, October 22. Funeral services were held from the late home today before Judge Schrick and was held to await the action of the next grand jury. Judge Schrick fixed bail at $250. Bailey lives on Greenleaf avenue. The arrest was made by Officer Peter J. Camp.

The death of Charles L. Shufeldt of Zena, N. Y., occurred on Monday, October 22, at his home. Mr. Shufeldt was born in 1847 at Cairo, N. Y., and was 76 years of age. He died followed abdominal injuries received from the kick of a horse on the previous Friday, October 19. He is survived by his wife, Lydia, and three daughters, Mrs. Abraham Snyder of Saugerties, Mrs. Ella C. Carle of Woodstock and Mrs. George Shufeldt of Port Ewen. Funeral services at the Woodstock Reformed Church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Woodstock Cemetery. The deceased was for many years prominent in Sunday school work both in the town and in the county. He served as financial secretary of the Ulster County Sunday School Association for many years; as superintendent of the Sunday School of the Woodstock Reformed Church for forty years. He was an active prohibitionist. He was secretary of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Company at the time of his death.

LOCALS EXTENDED TO HOLD LEAD

Of Fourteen Points When First Half Ended—Riconda Played Hard Game, Both On The Defense And Attack—Last Half One Of The Best Ever Witnessed.

Harry Riconda led the Kingston team of the Metropolitan League in its fight Wednesday evening at the armory court to come out a winner after they had registered what usually is a safe lead barring accidents. In his efforts Riconda played himself sick and was forced to leave the game in the last quarter, being replaced by M. Husta.

The Morgenweck team took the floor for the second half sporting a lead of fourteen points the score standing 20 to 6. During the first period the local representatives shot baskets from all angles of the court, each player having a field. Husta and Riconda had two field goals during the opening session. Out of sixteen fouls during this half the local club made but six. Riconda's baskets brought forth great applause, when he cut and made a long end run, with an opposing player taking a ride.

During the opening period the Brooklyn club missed many shots from the playground. Of the six points registered for them in this session Brennan and Griebel had field goals, and Griebel and Conney made good a foul each. Kingston during this period fouled eleven times. The swiftness of the young team representing Brooklyn, came nearly playing out the heavyweights of the Morgenweck club, or running them to death. During the final stanza the swift work of the opening session began to tell on the Morgenweck clan and the visiting players began to pop them in from all directions. From a lead of fourteen points, before the final bell tolled the lead was cut to four points with Kingston in front of a 30 to 26 tally.

Banks, the diminutive forward on the Brooklyn quintet, buried four pretty field goals from long distance in nightcap session. Brennan also sank two from the playground and Grimstead and Griebel each had a field. Out of seven shots from the fifteen foot mark the visiting club made good four. Kingston during this hectic period scored but half of the number of points they registered in the first period. Husta had a field and foul. Powers made good a foul. Dolan sank a field and a foul and Artus made a field. Out of seven chances from the penalty line Kingston made good four.

The spirit made by the visiting team in the final period extended the local players to their utmost and some excitement followed. The floor work and team work of the Morgenweck clan was greatly improved over the opening showing a week ago. After last night's game the local players will need a good rest as they surely had a severe workout.

Ferguson of Trenton was the referee and his work was very creditable. A large crowd of customers again turned out to view the contest, many remaining for the dancing following the game.

Kingston now stands tied for second place with Brooklyn in the league standing each having won two and lost one. From the exhibition shown in the two contests here so far this season, local fandom will see much better basketball than they did the past two seasons. The team pulling out at the top of the list of this league will have to be a powerful quintet.
